The Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection is amending Regulation C to implement amendments to the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act made by Section 1094 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the "Dodd-Frank Act").

The amendment requires creditors and their affiliated entities to collect data on certain credit-related events and to report the information to the Federal Reserve System. The amendment also requires creditors to collect data on a consumer’s mental health history, including periods related to asylum and community care, and to report to the Federal Reserve System.

The amendment improves tracking of workplace injuries and illnesses and enhances the Federal Reserve System's ability to monitor and address trends in workplace safety and health.

The amendment also establishes new reporting requirements for creditors and affiliated entities, including requirements for reporting on the types of credit-related events that occurred, such as relocations, foreclosures, and bankruptcies.

The amendment also requires creditors to report information on consumer accounts, including the type of account and the amount of the account balance.

The amendment also establishes new reporting requirements for creditors and affiliated entities, including requirements for reporting on the types of credit-related events that occurred, such as relocations, foreclosures, and bankruptcies.
